English and Indian Artists have explored the medium of 'Graphic Novel', to understand the theme: 'The Web of Water' and translate their perspectives into artworks.

The Web of Water is an international art project presenting different attitudes and perspectives on water; its use and misuse; and critical importance on Earth. Participants (artists, youth, community) explore ways we relate to water and how water relates to us. Engagement levels are via artistic practice, exhibitions, community participation, historical exploration and environmental discussions.

The exhibition is curated by Sandhya Gajjar, Saira Lloyd and Tracey Kershaw. The exhibition will continue until Friday 28th March 2014, from 10am to 5pm, Monday through Thursday and Friday 9.30 am to 4.30 pm.
